

VOLNÁ POZICE PRO ABSOLVENTY VYSOKÝCH ŠKOL

HW Design Engineer

Summary

Flextronics is looking for a junior HW Design Engineer for its design center in Brno, Czech Republic. In this position, the HW Design Engineer will be working with multi-disciplinary teams of engineers in this and possibly other European design centers.

The interested candidate should have excellent team-working, communication skills and Results-Oriented, Relentless drive to win attitude.

Job Responsibilities

- Participate in product specification and test methodology definition
- Preparation of component database
- Preparation of schematics based on required parameters and standards
- Preparation of PCB layout and production data
- Test prototypes and interact with internal and/or external test houses
- Interacting with the other members of the design team
- Responsibility for quality and in time delivery of given projects
- Project status reporting

Qualifications

- Graduate in Electrical/Electronic Engineering or Related Discipline

Required skills/Behaviors

- Good communication skills – in Czech and English
- Ability to prioritize and manage several tasks
- Excellent team-working
- A finisher who takes ownership and responsibility

Experience

Any experience in one or more areas below would be considered as advantage

- Electronic design – schematics, layout, testing
- EMC testing and safety standard
- Automotive design standards
- Knowledge of CAD tools